Hash No.: 110 – Buzby & Night Screecher's abode, Exeter

Hares: Buzby & Night Screecher

Hashers: 11

Those who had nothing better to do on Saturday night than chase flour and drink beer under the light of a full moon gathered at Buzby and Night Screechers house with anticipation. Much excitement was had when Buzby showed us his "Flour Formulation and Depositing Device" and minds were blown when we realised that we would not be following dots but well-formed and refined H's.

We set off along the well-laid trail on which no-one could possibly get lost ... hang on where's Bigfoot?? Well he can't be lost because NO-ONE could possibly get lost on this trail, he will be along in a minute ... anyone seen Bigfoot? Well if we just wait here for him he will be along in a minute for sure ... where the bloody hell is Bigfoot?? "Bigfoot" we cried, "On-On Bigfoot!"

There was nothing else we could do, someone had to rescue Bigfoot and there was only 1 man for the job ... He donned his cape and lycra all in one, threw some ropes across his shoulders and off into the moonlight went Buzby [assisted by Hairy Mollusc] ... all of about 50 yards where he found Bigfoot at the station waiting for a train into town so that he could hit Timepeace and show the kids how "we used to do it in our day".

With the group all back together we trotted off to complete the trail. We momentarily lost Woof-Woof only to find her straddling a very large piece of topiary and exclaiming how much she liked "bush".

All back safe and sound we were treated to the top-class hospitality of Buzby and Night Screecher with delicious food and open access to Buzby's Brewery. Woof-Woof decided a few chin-ups were in order on some rope in the man-cave only to find that it wasn't actually attached to the rafters. We celebrated Hairy Mollusc's 21st birthday and awarded down-downs as follows:

- Buzby and Night Screecher - hares
- Hairy Mollusc for being 21 again
- Woof-woof for liking bush
- Tiny Tanks for bad parking (that ultimately should have gone to Dobbie!)
- Bigfoot for losing trail where it was impossible to do so
