Hash No.: 140 – Tally Ho!, Exeter

Hares: Buzby; Night Screecher

Hashers: Belltoll; Come2Nite; GHR; Hairy Mollusc; Lizbien; Mad Max; Pearl; She's Ready

The hares, Buzby and Screech laid a short but perfectly formed trail on the way back from seeing the Chiefs win over Leicester. It was especially enjoyed by a certain Golden Retriever, who's barking made sure we knew how good it was!

Along Countess Wear Road and into King George V playing fields Buzby kindly hinted the trail might go around the edge which I duly picked up and started to follow, before realising I should have just shortcutted across the park. Doh! (I grew up in Countess Wear so should have known better).

Out onto Topsham Road to Countess Wear Roundabout and then up the by-pass where I had to dodge out of the way of my next-door neighbour on a bike who was around 3 miles from home.

At the sweetie stop

- She's Ready celebrated just like Gaffer after being first there.
- Lizbien, Screech and Hairy walked directly there and back.
- Come2nite ate all the sweets except the white ones as Buzby ate them.

Apparently on the way back I shortcutted the trail by pretending to be a walker!?!

As everyone was so well behaved, we decided not to have any down downs.

At the on down we enjoyed some great food and were entertained by Lillian (the landlady) catching the biggest hornet ever seen, according to some hashers.

Words by Bell Toll using mostly contributions from the hash. Thank you all.
